

My Comfort In The Storm

When trouble storms around me and sorrows fill my days,
I lift my head to You Lord and lift my voice in praise;
You're the Alpha and Omega, beginning and the end,
The Author of the Universe, on You I can depend.

That doesn't stop me feeling. Emotions still run high,
But I know that You are with me, on Your love I can rely.
Help me Lord to see You. Keep me in Your will,
Dwelling in Your presence, as You whisper "Just be still".

The things that break my heart Lord, are the things that break
Yours too,
So I lay them at Your cross Lord. I leave them all with You.
You know how things will turn out. You've known it from the start,
So help me just be patient and let You do Your part.

Forgive me if, through pride or fear, I'm standing in Your way,
Thank You that You know what's best and will do it anyway;
Thank You for Your gracious love and mercy that I seek,
For Your strength to help me through this. Without it I'm so weak.

So I give You all my burdens Lord. I lay them at Your feet;
Align my feelings with my Faith, as Your comfort I do seek.
Draw me close to You Lord, hold me in Your embrace;
Fill me with Your Spirit, Your Peace, Your Love, Your Grace.
